On March 14, 1927, 21 men in the community of Sudlersville started a very important service to people in the area.

This service was to protect the lives and property of the men, women, and children in Sudlersville and its surrounding area. Today, not only men, but also women and children voluntarily assume the responsibility for these services.

In years past, Sudlersville Volunteer Fire Company was responsible for mainly fire suppression. Today, emergency medical services, advanced life support, hazardous material responses, fire and rescue, and fire prevention education are among the duties performed by these volunteers.

Volunteer fire companies are the main source of fire protection and emergency medical services in the United States. Sudlersville Volunteer Fire Company is proud to provide these services to the community
